42-50 pts: You are definitely moving forward into your vision at an excellent pace! Congratulations!! Chances are very high, you will see BIG changes coming your way!

31-41 pts: You are making progress and that is great! Your dreams can become reality as long as you do not slack in your daily routine. Each day you work on persona/professional growth, brings you that much closer.

20-30 pts: You are making an effort and that is good. However, increase frequency and add in more of the 10 listed to improve your progress. Chances are, you are moving forward slowly, but there are most likely days where you are feeling discouraged instead of hopeful. It is on these days that you may be taking some steps backward. Remember your daily habits and routines affect your thought life and your thought life affects your physiology and state of mind. Consider reaching out to me for a free strategy session.

19 pts or less: You have allowed "life" to interfere with your progress a bit too much. It's good that you are doing some of these but if you truly want to see changes at a pace that excites you and keeps you determined to keep striving, you MUST revisit your intentions. Consider reaching out to me for a free strategy session. Create or re-create your personal vision statement using my online worksheets and remember the "why" behind your journey. Then do whatever it takes to rise to a new level!
